Emperor System Becomes Big Jap Political Issue

Family Monopolies Fall as Scene Shifts; Jap Cabinet Is Called Into Session

Tokyo, Oct. 23 (AP)—The rocking Emperor system, which has ruled the Japanese people for centuries, became Japan's number one political issue today as the once powerful family industrial monopolies crumbled under "new deal." The latest move in the fast shifting Japanese political scene came today when a committee of 183 Diet members, seeking to reform old line party elements, called for "absolute and unequal defense of Tenno" (the Emperor system).

Almost at once the cabinet was called into still another extraordinary session to discuss the dissolution of the Zaibatsu, (family owned industrial monopolies) announced yesterday.

The Diet committee also asked for "a determined fight against Communism" and "Liberalism," while the new Japanese Liberal Party pledged to "uphold and defend Japan's unique national structure"—Tennoism.

The Diet committee, forming that probably will be a conservative party containing remnants of both the old line Seiyukai and Minseitō, also called for a nation dedicated to peace and a government responsible to the Diet.

This group is believed to have appointed Prince Fumimaro Konoye, three-time former premier and the nation's first postwar vice premier, to accept the presidency. The prince indicated he would decline.

The Liberals advocated a diplomacy which would permit Japan to "join the United Nations" organization at the earliest possible date and supported proposed domestic reforms granting women's suffrage, increasing the power of the Diet and guaranteeing the people's freedom.

Communist Campaign

The Communists announced a campaign to raise 200,000 yen (about $13,344) from the public to assist released political prisoners and relatives of others who died in jail.

The Communists have no full platform yet, but their speakers repeatedly have insisted on elimination of Tennoism. This unprecedented open discussion of Tennoism as a political issue apparently has heightened confusion among the public, which is shocked by recent challenges to customary veiled security of the Emperor.

As to the Emperor's position in changing Japan, Konoye asserted that the Mikado's highly touted duties never had been a legal but admitted that a constitutional revision on which he is

Administration May Ask Industry to Increase Pay

President Might Hold Further Discussions Before Giving Statement

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—Reports circulated today that the administration may ask industry to increase pay while holding the line on prices, and unions to compromise demands for a 30 per cent hike.

President Truman, exploring cautiously all aspects of the wage-price problem, is believed to have been urged by cabinet and other advisers to try this course first.

There were signs that further discussions will be held before the White House issues any statement, and even that the whole matter may be deferred until the labor-management conference, beginning November 5.

Here is the situation in brief:

Edward C. Moran, Jr., assistant secretary of labor, said "a very definite policy" was substantially agreed to at a White House conference he attended yesterday afternoon.

Other sources indicated there was a strong tendency to rely on government persuasion of industry to grant higher wages—perhaps 15 per cent—under terms of Mr. Truman's August 18 executive order. This removed restrictions on pay increases not involving higher cost of living.

It was learned that the advisory committee of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion will see any new wage-price plan before it is made public. The committee meets next Monday, and Tuesday.

Mr. Truman plans to confer with most of the labor-management representatives before their conference, begins, said Eben Ayers, White House assistant press secretary. At the same time he says he did not know when a wage-price statement which had been expected after the White House meeting yesterday would be forthcoming.

Present at the discussions yesterday were the Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, who is preparing to return to private operation a number of oil refineries seized as the result of a labor dispute; Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson; Secretary of Agriculture Anderson; Price Administrator Chester Bowles; Economic Stabilizer John Cassin Cole; Edwin Witte, public member of the War Labor Board; and Moran, who represented Secretary Schweikert.

Unions have been demanding 30 per cent more, as in the case of the C.I.O. oil workers in the strike ending to the refineries' seizure, to compensate for loss of overtime pay during the war. It was known how they would react to a recommendation from Mr. Truman for 15 per cent increases.

Rodriguez Takes Number Two Spot

Former U. S. Sergeant Is High in Venezuelan Government

Caracas, Oct. 23 (AP)—Luis Valmore Rodriguez, 45-year-old, former United States sergeant, will be sworn in today in the number two spot in the revolutionary Venezuelan government which seized the power in a four-day uprising that overthrew President Isaias Medina Angarita.

Valmore was named to the powerful post of interior minister by his friend, Revolutionary President Romulo Betancourt, and will have charge of many important functions, including the government's relations with U. S. oil companies and other foreign investors.

Valmore, editor of El Pais, organ of the Democratic Action Party of which he is a leader, frequently has attacked U. S. oil interests in his newspaper, but he gave assurances in an interview that he would "respect the rights" of foreign investors.

The new government, meanwhile, moved swiftly to seek foreign recognition. Interim Foreign Minister Carlos Morales announced that the revolutionary junta had advised diplomatic missions of all countries of the make-up of the government and its aims.

Morales said his policy in the foreign ministry would be to meet all international obligations which the previous government had made.

He made no commitment on his government's future relations with the Spanish government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the Dominican republic government of Rafael Trujillo, or the current Argentina regime, but said his people were not in favor of such regimes.

The new Leftist government announced that all opposition to the revolution had collapsed and that order was being restored gradually throughout the country.

Collaboration Advocate

The new interior minister, Valmore, is recognized as an outstanding advocate of hemispheric collaboration. He was reported working closely with President Betancourt on sweeping social reforms.

In his powerful post he was expected to retain the nation's broad immigration program in order to assist the development of agriculture and to move to diversify Venezuela's closely-knit oil economy.

Valmore, gray-haired and studious appearing, volunteered for service in the U. S. army in 1916 when he was 18 years old. He served briefly in the First Infantry Division at Fort Dix, N. J., before being sent to Panama. He remained six months in the canal zone and became a sergeant.

He said that when he was accepted again at Fort Dix for training preparatory to admission to West Point, "it was discovered I was not an American citizen and therefore I was handed an honorable discharge."

"It was through my army experiences I came to like the United States," Valmore added. He said in an interview that the new de facto government would not take any part in the negotiation of Venezuela's oil contracts.

He accused past governments of having "forced United States oil companies to pay exorbitant commissions to negotiate contracts worth millions of dollars annually, and then diverted the money into illegal channels."

The junta issued a decree last night freezing the funds of all public functionaries with wealth above a certain level and forbidding the sale of their properties.

Another decree forbade the seven members of the junta itself from becoming candidates in the presidential elections planned six months from now.

Valmore said a communication

President Truman Recommends Year's Military Training for 17-20 Males; Urges U.S. Retain Its Military Strength

Three B-29 Fliers Suffered Flaming Gasoline Deaths

One Flier, Naked, Forced by Japs to Walk in Jey Streets, Then Was Set Afire

(By The Associated Press)
Hankow, China, Oct. 23 (AP)—American Intelligence officers today related a story of Japanese torture of three B-29 crewmen who were submitted to such humiliations that their names never may be revealed—for the sake of their relatives.

One of the fliers, almost naked, was forced to walk through Hankow's wintry streets. One eye was virtually gouged out and he was showered with icy water. At the end of his miles long ordeal, he was showered with gasoline and burned alive, on orders of a Japanese military schoolmaster.

Two fellow B-29 crewmen also were cremated, but whether they were alive when the fliers were tortured has not been determined. They too were forced to make the same tortuous walk through Hankow. The fire blackened bodies of all three have been recovered.

A fourth flier, who survived the crash of the Chengtu-based B-29 50 miles north of Hankow, was injured so seriously he was taken to a hospital and then escaped the hands of his buddies. He was transferred to Shanghai and is believed to have been liberated.

The incident was well remembered by scores of Chinese in Hankow because the city received its worst raid of the war only two days after the public torture of the Americans. Many believed the heavy bombing was a reprisal.

Those who saw the death march said the superintendent of a Japanese-sponsored "model" Youth Corps ordered the hideous tortures because he wanted to make an impression on his charges as a strong taskmaster.

The American fliers began their walk early in the afternoon. Streets of the former Chinese capital were lined with crowds which were exhorted by gunshots to strike and throw icy water on the men as they passed. The Americans were clad only in their shorts.

Witnesses said one Japanese dressed as a Chinese ran out of the crowd and poked out the eye of one of the airmen with a sharp stick.

The Japanese turned the Chinese Dai Pu Bank building in the heart of Hankow into a torture and death factory. An estimated 10,000 Chinese were put through this house of torture and only about 6,000 emerged alive.

Behind the heavy stone walls of the bank were the usual stock of the Japanese army, including equipment for the water treatment and squeeze machines for sensitive parts of the human body.

One torture instrument was used to hang a man from a beam by his thumbs in such a way that he eased himself with his bare feet and topped out them to ribbons on broken glass.

The bank furnace was used to cremate those who did not survive.

Newkirk Assails Mayor's Labor Record as Repudiation Of Needs, Aims of Workers

Edelmuth, Starting With Pearl Harbor, Has Vetoed All Benefits for Workers in View of Living Costs, He Says; Cites Hearing Delay on Law No. 3

Alderman Oscar Newkirk, Republican member of the Common Council, last night before party workers of the Third Ward, drew upon his intimate knowledge of Mayor William Edelmuth's veto attitude toward labor and urged city-wide support of Abram F. Molyneux, Republican candidate for mayor.

Alderman Newkirk in his prefatory paragraphs declared that, although the Democratic candidate has the endorsement of the American Labor Party, he would show the history of Edelmuth's administration to be, by direct action of the mayor himself, a constant repudiation of labor's needs and aims dating from less than a month after Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. Newkirk also cited unkept promises regarding wage increases, with some city employees earning as low as $18 per week in the face of rising living costs. "In other words," Newkirk said, "before election he (Edelmuth) was for the laboring man. But after election he was not."

Wage increases for city workers, he emphasized, have been the result of continued Republican efforts in the face of the mayor's vetoes. Newkirk cited the case of Local Law No. 3 providing a substantial wage increase, the first hearing on which has been delayed 20 days after council passage and is timed only eight days before election.

Text of His Speech

Alderman Newkirk's speech follows:

Fellow Citizens:

The Democratic candidate for mayor has the endorsement of the American Labor Party, which some of you might think was obnoxious to you.

Sen. Arthur Wicks Speaks at Regional Publicity Session

Ulster-Greene Vacationland Group Also Hears State Views; Boards Are Complimented

The Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland area this year has enjoyed the most successful season since its organization, even exceeding the 1944 season by 10 per cent but Joseph P. Horan, deputy director of New York State Publicity, speaking for Director Harold Keller who was ill, warned that in the post-war era competition will be keener and there will be need for greater effort on the part of all resort operators if the state of New York is to maintain its place in the tourist and vacation world.

Mr. Horan spoke at the Hotel Saulpaugh to approximately 75 guests of the Central Hudson Corporation at the annual session of the County Publicity Committees of the two counties, together with members and officials of the two boards of supervisors and newspapers. The dinner was served Monday night with H. E. Dexter, vice president in charge of Commercial Relations of the company, acting as toastmaster. A report on the year's activities was given by Edward M. Huben, commercial director in charge of publicity for the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation.

Wicks Is Speaker

Among the guests at the meeting was Senator Arthur Wicks, who spoke briefly, commenting on the success of the past season and saying at length to Mr. Huben for his "indefatigable" work not only locally but by close cooperation with the New York Department of State Publicity.

Senator Wicks stressed the need for good roads if we are to bring motor travel to the locality. He said that good highways were necessary if we are to get visitors to the area, and that the ending of the war, there will be a great increase in motor travel next year. Senator Wicks said that during the 19 years he had been in the Senate as a representative of the people of his district, he had always favored good roads. His record in the Senate, he said, showed that he had always favored and has frequently introduced legislation advocating a better road program for the state.

Advocates Modern Communities

"Modernize our home communities," said Senator Wicks, and he advocated the construction of municipal swimming pools which would be available for summer guests. He pointed to Sullivan county which has many natural lakes and where people flock to the country in summer to take advantage of the good swimming and if municipalities construct swimming pools it will be an attraction to summer guests. Many towns which have been taken over by taxes. Some of his small lakes, an easy way to make small lakes by scooping out the soil and erecting a small dam to form good swimming facilities.

To attract travel there is need for good highways and good hotels and both are available in Ulster and Greene counties if the people strive for them and work together. Senator Wicks said he would continue to work for better highway programs and said he would see that there was an enlarged highway construction program carried out on the west side of the Hudson river.

Senator Wicks complimented the Board of Supervisors of the two counties on their progressive action in appropriating funds for publicity and he said the results had been splendid. The expenditure had been fully justified and he said he would factor an added appropriation for publicity if it means bringing additional business to the area. In closing he urged all to go back to their home community and strive for an even bigger and more prosperous season in 1946.

Training Would Start at Completion of High School; Asks Action at Once

Outlines Elements President Gives Three Basic Points to Be Followed

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—President Truman today recommended a year's military training for young men between the ages of 17 and 20 years old.

Mr. Truman told a joint session of congress that the United States must remain militarily strong. He urged that a small professional army be maintained, supplemented with a reserve of trained young men.

"The atomic bomb is of little value without an adequate army, air and naval force," the President said. "For that kind of force is necessary to protect our shores, to overcome any attack and to enable us to move forward and direct the bomb against the enemy's own territory."

Specifically he asked that male citizens enter the year's training period either at the age of 18 or at the graduation from high school, whichever is later. In any event, he said, the training should begin before the young man is 20.

Seventeen year olds who had completed their high school course would be eligible to start after their training at that age if their parents consented.

"I urge that the congress pass this legislation promptly—while the danger is still fresh in our minds—while we still remember how close we came to destruction four years ago—while we can vividly recall the horrors of invasion which our Allies suffered—and while we can still see all the ravages and ruin of war," the President declared.

All young men, Mr. Truman asserted, should be included in the training program, whether physically qualified for actual combat service or not. He urged no exemptions for occupation, dependency "or for any other reason except total physical disqualification."

"There should be a place into which every young American can fit in the service of our country," said the President. "Some would be trained for combat, others would be trained for what ever service they are physically and mentally qualified to perform."

"It is only by strength that we can impress the fact upon possible future aggressors that we will tolerate no threat to peace or liberty."

The President emphasized that congress alone could send trainees under the universal training program into the army and navy and that if the time came "these trainees could be inducted only by selective process, as they were inducted for World War One and World War Two."

"The great difference between having universal training and having no training however," the President declared, "is that in time of emergency, those who would be selected for actual military service would already have been basically trained."

"That difference may be as much as a year's time. That difference may be the margin between the survival and the destruction of this great nation."

Under his plan, the President asserted, provision should be made within the armed services to help trainees improve their educational status.

"The year of universal training

Shooting Is Probed

Navy Officials Look Into Injury to Officer in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Oct. 23 (AP)—The shooting of Lt. Cmdr. Charles S. Osborne, 37, of Fort Worth, Tex., was being investigated by navy officials.

Police said Cmdr. Osborne was shot in the leg Sunday night and quoted the officer as saying the shooting happened accidentally while handling a revolver.

Osborne, a 27-year-old night club hostess, Helen Joyce Cook, of Long Island, N. Y., (street unavailable) found in the officer's apartment after the shooting, was shot in the leg as he was

She told police Cmdr. Osborne was her husband, but the naval officer denied it. During a hearing, Mrs. Cook objected to questions about her family, saying, "I don't see how this case affects any matter or where she lives."

White House Is Silent

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—The White House met with silence today as an assertion by Representative Hoffman (R-Mich.) that a "lobbyist" spent $75,000 on a party President Truman attended on September 22. The outing was held at the Jefferson Island Club in Chesapeake Bay. Among those present were Secretaries Vinson, Schweikert and Anderson, Attorney General Tom Clark, several dozen members of Congress and other Washington figures.

Hoffman declared in a House speech yesterday that Russell M. Arundel "picked up the $75,000 check which paid for the festivities." He said a congressional investigating committee deemed it your age that Arundel represented many companies in the capital and had a $100,000 a month hotel suite at the expense of the Bulova Watch Company.

Connelly Will Speak

Republican City Chairman Vincent C. Connelly will speak this evening at 7:45 o'clock over Station WKNV at which time he will discuss the program of Mayor Edelmuth as it was outlined in a speech given Monday evening by the mayor.

Andrew Street Man Is Coal Gas Victim

George R. Albertson was found overcome by coal gas on the floor of the cellar in his home, 69 Andrew street, shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night. Dr. Walter Levy, who was called, had him removed to the Kingston Hospital, where his condition today was reported as good.

The police department received a telephone call from the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. at 8:50 o'clock last night, asking that the police be sent to the Albertson home. Officers Earl Schoonmaker and Gus Bouloukos, in one of the radio cars responded.

Later the officers reported to headquarters that Mr. Albertson had been overcome by gas, and had been removed to the hospital.

Final Report of Benedictine Fund Appeal Tonight

All Committees in City and County Will Report Tonight at 8 at the Auditorium

The Benedictine Hospital Building Fund Appeal will hold its final report meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Municipal Auditorium, when all soliciting committees, including both Kingston and Ulster county towns, will meet in a final effort to reach their objective of $250,000.

Since the last report meeting on Thursday, the divisions and teams representing the City of Kingston have shown evidence of vigorous activity in securing every possible contribution for the report this evening.

The various towns committees throughout Ulster county likewise have indicated last minute efforts to thoroughly comb their respective districts and will report also tonight.

Special Gifts Committee, under the leadership of Arthur A. Davis, is making last minute solicitation of the comparatively few outstanding prospects on its special list and promises to complete that phase for its report along with Kingston and Ulster county.

Special attention has been directed to the participation of the various banking institutions located in Kingston, some being received during the past week—and others since the last meeting—as follows: Kingston Trust Company, $750; Bank of Ulster County, $750; State of New York National Bank, $750; Ulster County Savings Bank, $750; Kingston Savings Bank, $750; Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, $300; and Homeowners Savings and Loan, $300.

All division leaders and team captains have been urged to make a valiant last effort to secure the remaining $16,575 yet to be secured in order to reach the objective of $250,000. It is expected that tonight's meeting will be largely attended and enthusiastic reports will result.

Gitlette Is Freed Following His Plea

Action Is Result of His Move to Have His Conviction Vacated

Howard Gitlette of Springfield, Mass., who was convicted of grand larceny in October of 1938 and sentenced to Clinton State Prison for a term of from 2 1/2 to five years, appeared in county court Monday afternoon for re-arrestment under the same indictment under which he had formerly been sentenced after a plea of guilty to the charge. Gitlette came back under an order which had vacated the former conviction and granted Gitlette a new trial. The order was given by County Judge John M. Cashin.

Recently after serving three years and 10 months of his original sentence, Gitlette moved to have the former conviction vacated on the grounds at the time he was sentenced he had not been

Hankow Residents Suffer From Varied Ills Due to War

By RICHARD CUSHING

Hankow, China, Oct. 23 (AP)—Pearl oil lamps light Hankow by night, and its hungry, chilled residents, already burning their last scraps of wood, soon may be breaking down doors for fuel.

This once-flourishing inland port city is plagued with a complete lack of coal, a shortage of housing, inflation and disease.

Chinese working like ants are repairing the extensive damage done by American bombs, but Hankow's life is much deeper than her scarred face. The city awaits a cold winter—without short of water and without electricity.

The city's water plant is idle except for two hours daily. Some Hankow must depend entirely upon water carried from the muddy, disease-carrying Yangtze river—virtually a sewage canal. And without fuel for boiling water, epidemics are almost certain.

Hankow is off limits to American personnel stationed at its airfield because of mosquito-carried dengue fever.

The gravity of the situation becomes evident after nightfall when families huddle around the weak light of a peanut-oil flame and cook with rapidly-diminishing wood and paper.

This is the city that once was one of China's greatest commercial nerve centers—a city where many key transportation routes crossed.

About 140,000 Japanese occupied

Co. M Veterans Will Hold Meeting Tonight

The quarterly meeting of Co. M Veterans Association will be held tonight at 8:15 o'clock in the American Legion Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street.

Commander George Schick requests a large attendance as business of importance will be taken up. Arrangements will be made for the annual dinner, and several members who recently finished service in World War 2 will speak.

A.F.L. Makes Policy

Formulation of Program for Action Begins at Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Oct. 23 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor's Executive Council today begins formulation of a policy for A.F.L. action at the National Labor-Industry Conference in Washington, November 5.

William Green, A.F.L. president, told newsmen the job will require the council's attention throughout today's session and may not be completed until tomorrow, the concluding day of the group's quarterly conference.

The A.F.L. leaders, in a statement yesterday, called upon Congress to "consider immediately and enact promptly a comprehensive national training policy, together with a set of unified long-range programs essential to carry out such a policy."

Christmas Seal Sale Starts Nov. 19 In Ulster County

Last evening, at a meeting of the board of directors of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association of 74 John street, announcement was made that the 1945 Christmas Seal Sale would start on November 19. Over 16,000 letters will be delivered by postmen to residents in every part of Kingston and Ulster county. A preview of the Christmas Seal and supplies was given to the members. The board is planning on the assistance of many volunteers to help during the campaign.

A report by the secretary, Miss Katherine M. Murphy, R. N., showed that to date a total of 2870 X-rays have been taken in the industrial survey being carried on throughout Kingston and Ulster county. This program has included employees of Hercules Powder Co., Fuller Shirt Co., Skyline Mfg. Co., Manhattan Shirt Co., Knitrol, Inc., Kingston Knitting Mills, Barclay Knitting Mills, Armour & Co., Ulster Knife Works, F. L. Russell Mfg. Co., Diamond Mills, and many others, as well as teachers and senior high school students in Kingston, Saugerties, Wallkill, Ellenville, and Poughkeepsie and the rural districts. Talks and movies were shown in various industries and schools prior to the X-ray survey. A report on the radio program, "The Constant Invader," over Station WKNY every Wednesday at 10:15 a. m. was also given. Postal cards and circulars have been distributed so that all county folks may have the opportunity to listen to this 13 weeks health series. It was also reported that the association has subscribed for 17 vocational and hobby magazines for patients at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

A report by Mrs. Marion E. Sahler, nutritionist of the association, showed that exhibits had been set up and consultations carried on at health centers and dental clinics throughout the county. An exhibit at R.C.A. in Saugerties was also set up by the nutritionist. A nutrition class of six sessions was held at the municipal building in Kingston. Low cost meals were demonstrated. A breakfast project was also carried on at the Anderson School in Port Jervis. 27 children have awarded pins at the end of the period for having eaten a 100 per cent breakfast each morning before school. Talks and films on nutrition were given to several organizations and schools in the county.

Regret Resignation

It was with regret that the resignation of Mrs. Theodore Oxholm was received and accepted by the board of directors. Mrs. Oxholm has been a most active member in the tuberculosis association work and has served as chairman of the nutrition committee. She stated in her letter that she would be living in New York for the greater part of the year and would not be available for the work as heretofore and desired to resign.

It was also reported that a new X-ray machine has been installed at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital for taking X-ray pictures of persons who have been referred by their physician for a consultation X-ray. Clinics are held every Monday and Saturday morning from 9 to 11 for patients who wish to have their chest X-rayed.

This Is Mouse Year; Injurious to Trees

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP)—Donald H. Lewis, of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service at Cornell University, said today that "this is a mouse year" in New York state orchards—one in which the mouse population is high enough to cause serious damage to the trees.

Lewis attributed the large number of field mice to a heavy carry-over population last winter resulting from an early, lasting snowfall and lack of low temperatures before the snows came.

He urged the use of poison bait as soon as all fruit was harvested, with a re-inspection about a week before Thanksgiving and another treatment if necessary. He recommended a poison bait made of zinc phosphide, apples and steamed crushed oats.

Baldwin Declines Comment on Case Of Imogene Stevens

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 23 (AP)—Governor Baldwin declined to comment today on numerous requests that he take a hand in the Imogene Stevens case in Fairfield county.

A charge of manslaughter against Mrs. Stevens, wife of a new Canadian army major, was dismissed in Superior Court at Bridgeport last Thursday when Prosecutor Lorin W. Willis said there was "reasonable doubt, or more" that her killing of Albert Kovacs, 19-year-old Norwalk sailor, made her guilty. Willis said "all the evidence" tended to support Mrs. Stevens' contention that she shot the youth in self defense.

After the court's action, Rudolph Kovacs, one of the slain sailor's four brothers, announced the family intended to ask the governor or President Truman if further action could be taken, but sources close to the governor said today no one from the Kovacs family had yet approached him or asked for an interview.

The governor also was represented as holding the opinion that it would be improper for him to take a hand in the matter since such action would be a case of the executive department of the government encroaching upon the functions of the judiciary.

HOME BUREAU

Hurley Meeting

The Hurley unit of the Home Bureau met in monthly session at the schoolhouse on October 18. Mrs. Charles Relyea gave a demonstration on a simple way to iron a shirt. Mrs. John Rhodes gave a brief report on the first grooming lesson and Mrs. John Sutton gave a short lesson in citizenship.

All members who have signed for Christmas patterns were urged to contact Mrs. William Macke.

Wednesday, October 24, Mrs. Louis Hurley will give the first lesson in glove making. All ladies interested in glove making are asked to be at the first meeting, bringing a red pencil and a hard lead pencil. The meeting will be held in the Hurley Reformed Church, starting at 10 a. m. Members are to bring their lunch.

Quick Arrested

Elijah Quick of Alban was arrested Saturday night by County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburgh and Deputy Sheriff Leonard Belmont on a charge of assault, third degree. The complainant was Laura Quick. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace William C. Weyman of the town of Sandaken the matter was adjourned for a hearing on November 3 at 7 p. m.

Townsend Meeting

Election of officers will be held at the regular meeting of Townsend Club No. 1, Wednesday evening, October 24, at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street at 8 o'clock. Entertainment supervised by Mrs. Verna Ellis will follow. Refreshments will be served. All club members are urged to be present.

City Treasurer on Job

City Treasurer William R. Byrne has fully recovered from his recent operation for appendicitis and is back on his job at the city hall.

About the Folks

Henry J. Eichmayer, Highland avenue, of the Kingston Daily Freeman advertising department is ill at his home with a serious throat infection.

Dr. Irving J. Josephson of 273 Center avenue, will be out of town from October 24 through October 28.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Renewed bearishness over the labor picture received the principal blame today for a general retreat of the stock market although other factors were present.

While scattered favorites contested the shift with fair success, declines of one to two or more points predominated near the fourth hour. The direction was only slightly cloudy until around midday when selling of stocks and bonds spread to other departments. Dealings picked up for a while but slow intervals were plentiful.

U. S. Steel's rejection of union wage demands plus threats of a strike in the automotive field helped chill bullish ardor. Belief that the market, within a shade of an eight-year top, was due for a further technical correction helped offset inflation psychology, earnings and dividends. Many customers retired to await the administration's wage-price policy.

Prominent casualties included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, du Pont, Westinghouse, Anaconda, American Telephone, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Pacific, Goodyear, General Electric and Santa Fe.

Bonds were spotty and commodities uneven.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

There are the makings of another dangerous upheaval in the Balkans.

Freshly arrived Russian troops, with tanks and artillery, are "maneuvering" in southern Bulgaria near the Turkish border. Reliable estimates place the Red military force in Bulgaria at 200,000. The Bulgarian army is being reorganized under the tutelage of Russian training staffs, and has the appearance of being an auxiliary to the Soviet force.

Why all this military activity? Well, the answer must be a guess, but we don't have to look for a likely answer.

As I read the signs, the dispute between Moscow and Turkey over (1) control of the Dardanelles and (2) the territorial concessions which the Soviets want in Turkish Armenia, seems to be coming to a head. The stakes are vast, and both sides are packing guns, but neither is likely to fire, but none the less suggestive.

The status of the Dardanelles is one of the utmost importance to Russia. This narrow strait (the one Leander used to swim nightly to visit his true love) is the gateway leading from the Black Sea into Aegean and the Mediterranean. That is, it's Russia's only exit from the Black Sea and without free use of this passage, Moscow cannot make good its apparent ambition to become a Mediterranean power.

The way things now stand, Turkey controls the Dardanelles under the so-called Montreux convention of 1936—signed by Bulgaria, France, Britain, Greece, Japan, Romania, Turkey, Russia and Yugoslavia. This treaty permitted Turkey to militarize the strait. Freedom of passage for other nations was recognized, excepting that if Turkey was at war or was threatened by war.

The Montreux convention didn't trouble Russia at the time of its signing, but it has become a nagging matter now that she is the dominant power of that part of the world and wants free access to the Mediterranean. Thus it came about that at the last meeting of the Big Three at Potsdam the Soviet asked for a revision of the Montreux convention. President Truman stood for an international commission to control the strait—and there the matter still rests. The Turks naturally don't cotton to the idea much, and hold that the convention would have to be altered by the same countries which established it.

To add fuel to the fire, another question developed between Moscow and Ankara. The Soviet union claims the Kars, Ardahan and Artvin districts of Turkish Armenia. These are in the northeast corner of Asiatic Turkey, at the southeastern end of the Black Sea, and lie against the frontiers of the Soviet republics of Georgia and Armenia. The three districts were ceded to Turkey by Russia in 1921, as a good will gesture. They now have a strategic value which makes them valuable to Russia.

The Turkish press has been blunt in declaring that Ankara will refuse to give up these districts. The Turks are tough and probably mean what they say. Whether they could back up what they say, or would try to, is quite another question.

In any event, the indications are that Russia is going to demand an early settlement of both these questions. Bulgaria, of course, will stand solidly with Russia. The Sofia provisional government—which is still unrecognized by the United States and Britain, who maintain that it doesn't represent the whole country—is heavily Communist.

working would rob Hirohito of some of his absolute powers. The Nippon Industrial setup was split wide open with the announcement by Finance Minister Vismont Kato Shibusawa that representatives in the Zaibatsu have agreed to liquidate.

Hardly had the announcement become public before it became the object of bitter criticism. Tokyo's powerful newspaper Asahi almost immediately attacked the monopoly liquidation announcement, declaring the dissolution plans of the once all-powerful Mitsui, Sumitomo and Fuyo banks were but a screen behind which they sought to evade responsibility for the war and to protect giant profits.

Meanwhile, five schools at Morioka, 322 miles northeast of Tokyo, suspended classes because of lack of food, the newspaper Asahi reported. To increase supplies pupils in primary grades have been put to work in the fields.

American headquarters announced that the famous American Division which was active in Guadalcanal, Bougainville and the Philippines before coming to Japan, will start home soon. The first group of officers and men will leave November 3.

The Red Cross received $63,598 during the war from prisoners in American penal institutions, all contributed from prison earnings.

Town of Rochester Republican Candidates

Rochester Town G.O.P. Candidates

Ticket of Unusual Merit Has Been Selected

The Republican party of the town of Rochester has selected a town ticket of unusual merit this fall. Above is the group of men chosen as candidates to be voted at the general election.

Front row, left to right, Herman Stokes, superintendent of highways; Supervisor Stanley F. Kelder; Town Clerk Lewis H. Miller. Back row, left to right, Friend Wilklow, justice of the peace; Lester Coddington, assessor; LeRoy C. Kelder, collector; Benjamin Osterhoudt, assessor; David Depew, justice of the peace; Archie Hall Davis, school director.

Stanley F. Kelder, candidate for re-election as supervisor, has served for the past four years and previous to that time he held the office of justice of the peace for eight years, thereby making him well experienced in town government. He was born and reared in the town of Rochester and has for a number of years been actively engaged in electrical contracting. Supervisor Kelder is an elder in the Rochester Reformed Church, master of Patroon Grange and has always been active in the social and civic affairs of the town.

Lewis Miller, candidate for town clerk, is well qualified for this position, having served as town clerk for a number of years, and he has a reputation for always being courteous and obliging. He has served as postmaster for a number of years and is well qualified to fill the office and keep the records of the township up to date. Like Supervisor Kelder, Mr. Miller has always been ready and willing to inform anyone on the affairs of the town and from his past experience is fully versed in the town business.

Herman Stokes, candidate for town superintendent, comes before the voters with a wide experience in highway matters, having served for six years with one of the best superintendents that the town ever had. At present he is serving by appointment and has done a good job. He is a conscientious worker and always has worked in close accord with the supervisor, a matter of great importance in having a smooth and efficient working town highway department.

Friend Wilklow, seeking re-election as justice of the peace, is a man who has successfully filled this office. He is a man of keen intellect and cool judgment, well qualified for the office.

David Depew, candidate for justice of the peace, has had wide experience in dealing with the public in his life work and is well qualified through a close study of town government.

Lester Coddington, seeking re-election as assessor, is asking the voters of the town of Rochester to give him their full support, satisfied that he has given his very best in the previous years and he may be depended upon to continue to administer his office in a fair and upright manner.

Benjamin Osterhoudt, who is also running for the office of assessor, has very effectively filled his office and pledges when re-elected to continue to give his best to carry on the work.

LeRoy C. Kelder, candidate for collector, also pledges to devote the same care and effort to the work of collection of taxes as has been the custom in the past. This is an important office in town government and Mr. Kelder is fully qualified to give the taxpayers the utmost in cooperation.

Archie Hall Davis, who seeks the office of school director, is a man of experience and capable of ruling on any questions pertaining to affairs of the office should such action become necessary.

The Republican party of the town of Rochester has selected the above town ticket, fully confident that each and every man will, if elected, fill their office to the very best of their ability. These men, all residents of the town for many years, know of the needs and requirements of the town and will work toward the fulfillment of these needs.

SOLDIERS LOSS LUCKY

A British soldier on a boat leaving the Hague for England on Turlough recently was very sad. He had lost the $64 he had saved up for his leave. Three appeals over the loudspeaker for return of the money were unsuccessful and a suggestion was made that the boy's mates might like to have "a whip around" for their pal. The collection amounted to $204 on the first count and rocketed to nearly $288 by the time the boat reached Harwich.

"The mule," Woods said, "proved faithful to his old boss—an undertaker."

Mule's Big Chance
Kansas City, Oct. 23 (AP)—"I've walked and walked that beat and nothing ever happened," complained Edward F. Smith, night watchman for a group of offices.

"But last night what happens? I find three guys giving the safe the works in one of the offices. I reached for my gun and it wasn't there. I felt like two cents."

Smith lost his big chance. The safecrackers escaped with $45 in cash and checks while he ran after his pistol.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 23 (AP)—When the family doctor was informed that the son of George A. Jenkins had broken his arm, the physician inquired incredulously, "not the same boy?"

But Jenkins assured him it was the same boy, six-year-old EIRAY Jenkins, who broke his right arm last July 19 when he tumbled from a tree, his left arm a couple of months later when his gymnastics on a clothesline pole crossbar ended disastrously and now his left arm again.

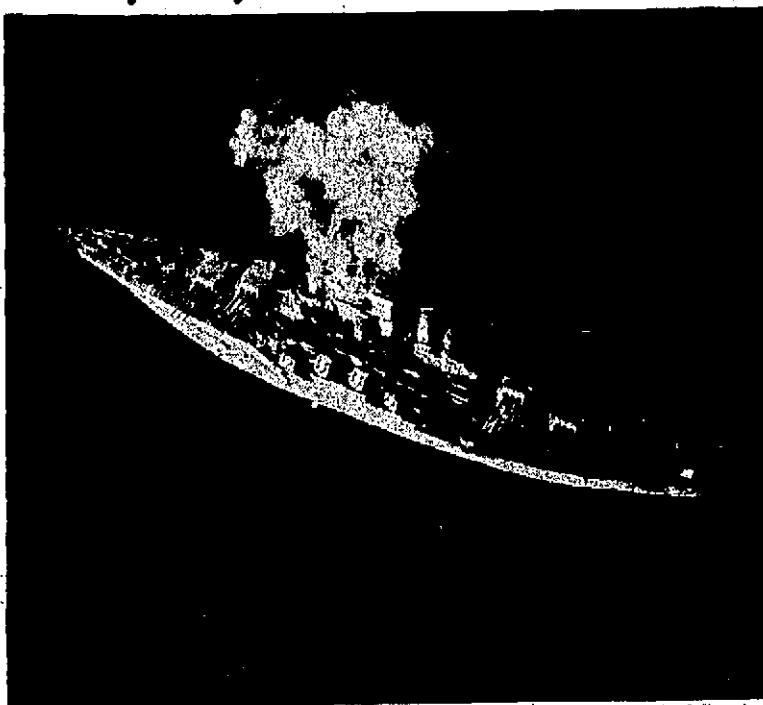

All of this has given young EIRAY a chance to make up his mind about his future profession. He wants to be a doctor.

Help Wanted
Laramie, Wyo., Oct. 23 (AP)—A new addition to the Laramie city payroll is being considered, and a cowboy would fill the bill.

Police Chief Barney Deti said that between 15 and 20 horses and some cattle are wandering around the town and that anybody with a horse may have a 24-hour job round them up at $1 a head. The critters insist on wandering into spots where not even police motorcycles and cars can get at them.

Navy Day Celebration Saturday

WELL-ARMED BATTLESHIPS LIKE U.S.S. TENNESSEE BLASTED THE FOE

BIG GUNS OF U.S.S. MISSOURI HURLED STEEL AND FLAME

Acknowledging the part of its Navy in final victory, a grateful nation celebrates Navy Day, Saturday, October 27. The war won, the importance of its air and seapower recognized, the "world's greatest Navy" readies itself for a vigilant peace; guns, ships, planes and men on the alert. These official Navy photographs show several facets of the hard-fought struggle.

WOODSTOCK

TO MARRY OVERSEAS

MILTON WOLVEN

Milton Wolven cabled his mother, Mrs. Jesse Wolven, a few days ago saying that he had received leave from his company now stationed in England and would go to Scotland, where he expects to be married on or about November 2. The young lady is Margaret Beaton. She will probably come to America, where Milton will join her when he is discharged from the service.

Woodstock, Oct. 23—Mrs. Warren Huddy expects a visit from her mother over the week-end. A birthday surprise party was given Mrs. Florence Brower on Thursday evening at her home here. Present were Mrs. Anna Short, Mrs. Elsie Ripton, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Bonsteel and Mrs. Jesse Wolven. Refreshments were served. All had a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lisher are spending some time in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vreeland spent the week-end at their home here. The entertained Bruce Herick on Saturday evening.

Lt. Col. Coleman Smith of Texas is spending a few days in Woodstock. His wife is the former Mary Meinitz who some years ago worked for the Western Union Telegraph Co. here when Mrs. Clearfield Park was in charge of the office.

The Woman's Society for Christian Service will hold an all-day meeting in the Methodist Church and hall here on October 28. The speaker will be Mrs. King of Kingston. The morning session will be at 10 o'clock and the afternoon session at 2 o'clock. Luncheon will be served in the hall.

The Woodstock Fire Co. was summoned on Saturday at about noon to the home of Judge Garrison of Study to extinguish a fire. The damage was not reported.

Suspension Is Ended

Brussels, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Belgian Ministry of war announced today lifting of the suspension imposed on the Catholic newspaper

Le Quotidien which brought about a heated debate in the Senate recently. The suspension was imposed because of editorials sympathetic to the return of King Leopold to the throne.

YES MAN

My name is Kenneth Carter. I'm the "Yes" man at Personal Finance Co. . . . that is—I'm the man who likes to say "Yes" to requests for Personal loans.

You see—I'm the manager of our office—the man who's responsible for building up our business. The more times I say "Yes" to requests for loans—the more business we do. And since making Personal Loans of $25 to $250 or more is our ONLY business—that's mighty important to me.

Therefore, if you need extra cash at any time—whether a little for a short time or a lot for a long time—you can depend on my doing my best to say "yes" to you.

Next time you can use a loan give me a chance to say "Yes"—won't you? I'll consider it a favor. SEE ME at PERSONAL FINANCE CO., 2nd Floor, 519 Wall Street, or Phone me at Kingston 3476.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

EFFECT OF
"TULIP FIRE"
ON BLOOM AND FOLIAGE

BULBS AND BULBETS READY TO BE DIVIDED

Watch Out for "Tulip Fire"

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Released by Central Press Association

WHEN replanting tulips this fall, remember that tulips which have grown in one place for several years should be planted in a different location as a prevention against "tulip fire." If this cannot be done, then replace the soil in which the tulips have grown with new soil.

Tulips are infected with "fire" the leaves and flowers become spotted and "burned" in appearance, and the bloom is often completely destroyed, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Tulip "fire" also attacks the bulb under ground, destroying or damaging the bulb.

Any tulip bulbs which have split into three or four smaller bulbs, as illustrated, can be divided and replanted as separate bulbs.

Bulbs which measure one inch or more in diameter will likely flower the following season. The smaller sizes of bulbs can be planted in rows in some cut of the way spot in the garden to grow into flowering size.

After planting tulip bulbs cover the bed or border with hay, straw, leaves or other litter. The covering should not be put on until several hard frosts have created a crust, this is to prevent mice entering the ground uncovered. This covering should be removed as soon as the young sprouts are visible in spring.

If troubled with mice, moles or squirrels, partly crushed moth balls should be scattered through the surface soil.

Leaves From Notebook Of War Correspondent

By HAL BOYLE

Kintamani, Bali (AP)—Civilization is slowly probing with tainted hands into "the last paradise" of Bali, and Europeans who forsware the world to live here fear its inroads will bring disaster to this happy island.

"Bali has changed terrifically since I first came here in 1919," said Roland Strasser, Austrian artist, author and globe trotter. These people are losing their souls."

Strasser, a tall, thin man of 58, with brooding, intellectual face, spent five years in Tibet and is now on something of an authority on out-of-the-way places and peoples. In 1931 he wrote a notable travel book, "The Mongol Horde."

He has spent ten years altogether in Bali. He and his wife, Emilie, live a solitary life in their home at Kintamani, which commands a splendid view of Barak volcano and the great deep lake at its base. Twelve years ago they had another house along the shore but it was destroyed by a Batoer eruption and buried under a layer of ash.

Strasser has sardonic views on modern machine progress and machine distributed culture and their impact on Balinese and other native Pacific peoples. As he told me in his neat sitting room, he had contentedly the first American cigarette he had smoked in years. Strasser excepts cigarettes from his condemnation of the machine age.

"The natives here are suffering from too much half-digested education," he said. "Their art has been diverted into the tourist industry—he referred chiefly to Balinese wood carving—and their life corrupted."

"The gods are going from me, I can't say it was perfect before this began to happen—but it was more genuine here. Japanese occupation slowed this change. The Japanese left them pretty much untouched, and actually tried to teach them to keep their gods."

Strasser particularly dislikes the effect of missionaries on the people.

"They've got the Balinese all mixed up," he said. "They converted them to Christianity and all sorts of things. Many natives decided to become Christians because they found it was cheaper. They say they don't have to give offerings every day to their old Hindu gods—once a week will do for the new Christian god the missionaries told them about."

"The Balinese isn't a Mohammedan with the stern outlook on life of the Moslems. He is a happy-go-lucky man. Education has only made him worse. You can teach him about the world outside Bali, but it really is no concern of his."

Strasser has absorbed this viewpoint himself. He has little concern in that world either, except to send out his painting periodically for exhibition. His wife has year to get him to go on a vacation to nearby Java, where there are more Europeans.

I asked him whether he ever tired of his solitude; what he missed most in his life here.

"I miss nothing," he said positively. "I am much too musical to miss that horrible canned gramophone music, and I don't care for movies or radio."

His wife listened to him a little sadly. Her eyes grow merry only when she remembers Vienna. Her hair was black there. It is gray now, although her face is young.

"I have grown old here," she said. "It is beautiful in Bali, but too lonely. I miss the society of European friends and modern cities—the shops and the cinemas."

She would like to go back to Vienna—I will never forget the expression on her face when I told her how badly it was damaged during the war—but she doubts that her husband ever will return. To while away the lonely days she has many pets—one monkey, seven dogs and two horses.

As we left we paused on the terrace to admire the soul-lifting sight of Mount Batoer, shrouded in a cloud, across the valley.

"Yes, it is beautiful," said Henrietta Strasser, "but have you ever looked at the same beautiful thing every day for ten years, morning, noon and evening? Goodbye."

Mary Roberts Rinehart, after 40 years of writing murder mysteries still finds writing a hard job. "I write each story three times with pen and ink," she says.

HUNTS HITLER

Dr. Robert M. W. Kemmer (above), German-born and Nazi, is hunting for Adolf Hitler—dead or alive—says the Philadelphia Record. The newspaper said the search is on direct orders from the White House. The White House said it knew nothing of the report. (AP Wirephoto).

HOWARD IS IN JAPAN

James R. Howard of 91 Newkirk avenue, janitor at the State Museum on Fair street, has received word that his son, Sgt. James E. Howard, now is stationed with the Eighth Marine Regiment at the Port of Sasebo, island of Kyushu, 30 miles from Nagasaki, the city that felt the effects of the terrible atomic bomb.

Sergeant Howard describes Sasebo as having a population of 225,000 before the B-29 raids on July 3, 4 and 5 laid a quarter of the city in ruins. He says that the poverty, dirt and squalor are unbelievable.

The marines, it is said, have taught the Japanese kids to sing "God Bless America"; also, a few uncomplimentary lines about Tojo. As a reward they are given hard candy by the Leathernecks.

The sergeant writes that those little shiny swords worn by the Nip cops are the envy of every marine, as they make swell souvenirs.

Sergeant Howard has served 32 months with the Marine Corps, the last 26 months in the Pacific. He has hopes of leaving Japan for the United States about the first of the year.

MAJ. CRANSTON RETURNS

Major William J. Cranston, Jr., who recently returned from the European theatre of operations, has reported to Camp Sibert, Ala., after spending a 45-day leave in Kingston. Major Cranston, while in Europe, was stationed at Verdun, France, with the 201st General Hospital where he was chief of the hospital's Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Department and consulting eye physician for the 819th Hospital Center consisting of eight 1,000-bed General Hospitals in the Verdun-Commercy-Bar-le-Duc area.

Before entering the armed forces in 1942, Major Cranston was an eye, ear, nose and throat physician in Kingston.

WHERE THEY SERVE

Sgt. Arthur G. Kurtzacker who has been serving with the 77th Division in Guam, Leyte and Okinawa arrived in California Saturday.

Sergeant Kurtzacker, who expects to be discharged within a few weeks, was wounded in June while serving on Okinawa and has been awarded the Purple Heart.

Before entering service he was a member of the faculty at Kingston High School.

Lt. M. Joseph Block, former member of Kingston High School faculty, is instructing German prisoners of war in government at Fort Getty School, Jamestown, R. I. He spent last week-end with his mother at her home on Albany avenue.

P.F.C. Richard Keldershouse, of 108 North Front street, has been transferred from Rhoads General Hospital, Utica, to the Army General Hospital at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

P.F.C. Herbert H. Reuner is now with special service at headquarters of the 100th Division, P.F.C. Reuner, who was formerly with the 106th (Golden Lion) Division, wears two battle stars and the Good Conduct ribbon. Mrs. Reuner resides in Rifton.

The highest oil field in the world is in Colorado.

Commended

FRED G. BAKER, JR.

The Rev. and Mrs. F. G. Baker of Harriman, formerly of Stone Ridge, have been notified that their son, Fred G. Baker, Jr., now discharged from the navy, has been awarded the Navy Commendation Ribbon.

The ribbon was awarded to five men on the ill-fated U.S.S. Helena on which Mr. Baker served from the time she was commissioned until she was sunk July 5, 1943, in Kula Gulf.

He served six years and three months in the navy, five years in the Pacific area and with the exception of his boat training and the last two months of shore duty at Oakland, Calif., he was on sea duty. His first assignment was aboard the U.S.S. Helena and afterward to The President Polk, transport, and participated in all of the campaigns but the occupation of Japan. He has been awarded the following ribbons: Navy good conduct for his entire length of service, American Defense Service, Asiatic Theatre of Operations, Pacific War Zone, Combat Bar with five silver stars, Philippine Liberation with bronze star and Helena Presidential Unit Citation. Mr. Baker's wife is the former Miss Janet Service, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Service, Stone Ridge. He is a graduate of Kingston High School.

NAVY DISCHARGES

The U. S. Naval Personnel Separation Center, Lido Beach, L. I., has announced the discharge from service of the following men under the Navy point system: S. 1/c Joseph L. Harris, of 571 Broadway, S. F. 3/c Edgar H. Lawrence, of 19 Abruyn street, and Harold J. Sheehan, S. 1/c, of 88 Lucas avenue, this city; Albert J. Jansen, S. 2/c of New Paltz; Odell D. Johnson, S.K.V. 3/c, and E.M. 3/c John W. Granwehr, both of Saugerties.

RECEIVES PROMOTION

George E. Savatky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Savatky of this city, recently received a promotion at headquarters of the San Francisco Port of Embarkation, Army Transportation Corps installation, advancing him to staff sergeant. He is assigned to duty aboard a troop transport operating out of San Francisco port.

JORDAN PROMOTED

While in the Marshall Islands, John Jordan of 13 Spring street was informed he had received his rating as a gunner's mate third class. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, received a letter from his commanding officer saying he was happy to recommend him for his advancement and that there are few at his age holding such a rating in the navy. Mr. Jordan is 18 years of age. His ship was off the coast of Okinawa at the time of the recent typhoon. They drifted for three days but came through safely.

MYERS IS HONORED

Chiabua, Assam, India—Staff Sgt. Clark Warren Myers, husband of Mrs. Virginia P. Myers of 128 Main avenue, and son of Mrs. Bessie L. Myers of 41 Lafayette avenue, is a member of the 165th Ordnance Tire Repair Co., which has been awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque. He has also been awarded the Bronze Service Star for the Burma campaign, and also a Good Conduct Medal.

GRUBERG IS IN CALIFORNIA

Staff Sgt. Jack Gruberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruberg, 57 Washington avenue, has arrived at Fort McDowell, Calif., and expects to be home soon. He has served three and a half years in the Pacific area participating in campaigns from Australia to Tokyo.

ARMY DISCHARGE

T/Sgt. Spencer C. Ennist, Jr., of 30 Lucas avenue, of the Aviation Engineers of the Army Air Forces, last stationed at Geiger Field, Spokane, Wash., was honorably discharged from the Army of the United States recently at the separation center at Portland, Ore. He entered the service on September 30, 1940.

Laredo, Texas, Oct. 15—After 35 months service with the Army Air Forces, Staff Sgt. Walter F. Swarthout of Bloomington, is being honorably separated from the U. S. Army at the Laredo Air Field Separation Center. Prior to entering the service he was a student at Kingston High School. He served 14 months overseas with the Eighth Air Force in England, flying 30 missions as a ball turret gunner. Upon his return from overseas duty he became an aerial gun-

Artists Recalled For Church Concert

The music committee and choir of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church are sponsoring a concert to be held in Epworth Hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The guest artists are Gladys Tandler and Verna Tandler, who gave a concert in the spring and are being recalled.
Gladys Tandler, mezzo-soprano, studied with William Simmons and has toured the east and south where she has appeared in concerts and on the radio. She has sung with the Oratorio Society of New York in presentations of "St. Paul," "Praise of Music," and "Holy City." She has also done solo work in church and sung in opera in New York under the direction of Leon Barzin. She has appeared with New York City Symphony in U.S.O. work in Washington, D. C., and sang the female lead in "Rip Van Winkle," children's opera, under Charlotte Lund. Miss Tandler also sang in the "Messiah" at Principia College, Elmhurst, Ill.
Verna Tandler, pianist and accompanist, studied with Rudolph Gwyn, Leo Miller and Vladimir Prodan as well as at the Juilliard School of Music. She has played in concerts, radio and club engagements and for vocal studios in New York. She is an accompanist for the Motown and Carl Fischer Recording Studios and for instrumentalists, choral groups and dances. She has taught piano for 15 years and has given a series of lectures called, "Layman's Music Course."
The proceeds from the concert will go toward increasing the fund for a new organ at the church. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the choir.

Special Program Is Planned for Panequois Meneon

With so few professional magicians in the field the program committee for Panequois Meneon (Festival of the Months) to be held at St. James Methodist Church Parlor, Thursday, feels that Kingstonians will appreciate the appearance of Arthur J. Moose. Mr. Moose will present a program especially arranged to please an audience of men, women, young people and children. In addition to his magic, he is a skilled ventriloquist and will bring "Jerry," the talking doll, with him to Kingston.
Mr. Moose will appear during the evening entertainment which will begin at 8 o'clock. There will also be musical numbers under the direction of C. Franklin Pierce, minister of music. The choir in costume will feature "Songs of Long Ago." The St. James Male Quartet will assist with the musical program.
The festival itself will open at 4 p. m. when articles will be on sale in the various booths decorated to represent the months of the year.
The booths and church society which will sponsor them will be: January—Men's Club, ice cream. February—Boy Scouts, hot dogs and soft drinks. March—Cub Scouts, display of work accomplished. April—The Choir, "Dun Usin." May—Service Guild, potted plants. June—Group 3 of W.S.C.S., Bridal Home Chest. July—Miss Berryann's Class, picnic supplies. August—Junior Choir Mothers Guild, miscellaneous. September—Minnie E. Risely Class, handkerchiefs and Christmas cards. October—Youth Fellowship younger group, games; Youth Fellowship older group, doughnuts and cider.
November—Group 2 of W.S.C.S., food. December—T.T.T. Class, Christmas gifts.

Sorosis Hears Paper on Cookery

Given by Mrs. E. B. Shumate
Sorosis met with Mrs. E. B. Shumate at her home in Lonsdale Monday afternoon. Mrs. Shumate made the paper for the day on "Culinary Art" which she described as the most ancient of arts.
She introduced the topic by reviewing the development in preparing food from the primitive days of eating raw vegetables and meat to the present methods of cooking with electricity. She noted that many things are still found to be most nutritious when eaten raw. From time to time she also referred to modern refrigeration in preserving food whereby menus can be planned for a week in advance. Mrs. Shumate referred to the mention of cooking in the Bible with the red lentil potage of Esau's temptation, making of bread and cucumbers in Egypt. Food customs often recall various sections of the country such as scrapple in Philadelphia, New England boiled dinners and Saturday night dinners of baked beans and brown bread; cakes and pies for breakfast in Indiana and the serving of salad as the first course in California.
Prior to the discussion of the paper for the day Mrs. Cora Drake conducted the current events for when mention was made of the French election held Sunday when women were given the opportunity to vote for the first time in that country; commodities coming freely on the market will soon supply plenty of corn and chocolate; the National Red Cross has raised 59 million dollars in the last six years.
Following the meeting Mrs. Shumate served refreshments. Mrs. Howard A. Lewis and Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm assisted by pouring.
Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Vernon Hull, 259 Smith avenue. Mrs. Hull will give a paper on "Art in Industry."

Catherine Lynott Is Bride

Of John H. Daioczek
Ellenville, Oct. 23—Miss Catherine Lynott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lynott of Jamaica, L. I., and John H. Daioczek son of Mrs. Anna Daioczek of Ellenville, were united in marriage at the Church of Christ the King, in Springfield, L. I., at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 14.
The bride was dressed in white satin and nixon with a sweetheart cap and fingertip veil, she carried a sheaf of gardenias. She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Pat Lynott, who wore blue satin and nixon and a blue net. Miss Anna Mary Lynott, sister of the bride and Miss Virginia Daioczek, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore pink satin and nixon with pink net sweetheart caps. All three attendants carried pink rosebuds.
William B. Joyce of Kerhonkson was best man. Lieut. James Lynott, Harry Lynott brothers of the bride of Jamaica and Corp. Antonio E. Andrade, of Napanoch, were ushers.
The bride was given in marriage by her father, "Ave Maria" was sung by Mrs. J.chner of Jamaica.
Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Springfield South Side Civic Hall, for approximately 300 people, friends and relatives. Those attending from Ellenville and vicinity included Mr. and Mrs. John Pivin and family, Wilford Rowan, Miss Nancy Downes, and Mrs. Sam Feldman of Kingston and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Anna Daioczek and sisters and other relatives.
Mr. Daioczek received his honorable discharge from the Army in June, after being in service four and a half years, most of which time was spent overseas.

Twentieth Century Club Studies

Canadian Geography and People
Mrs. C. B. Dickinson was hostess to the Twentieth Century Club Monday afternoon at her home, 152 Pearl street. Mrs. George Yery was unanimously elected a member of the club. Continuing with the study of Canada there were two papers for the day: Geography of Canada, given by Mrs. Harry B. Walker and "People of Canada" by Mrs. E. O. Allen.
Mrs. Walker in discussing the geography of the land spoke of the population settling near the United States border with the northern regions sparsely settled and much of it still undiscovered and unmanageable. Canada is the third largest country in the world and has no natural barriers separating it from the United States. There are 3,897 miles of unfortified border between the two countries.
In dealing with the individual provinces she spoke of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island as the maritime provinces or the Laurentian Shield; Quebec and Ontario are the prairie provinces with 60 per cent of the population; Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, wheat country; and British Columbia the fourth largest province has the important port of Vancouver. From Halifax to Vancouver is 18 hours flying time.
Mrs. Allen discussed the various inhabitants of Canada remarking that the Indians were the first to see the French and English predominance. Prince Edward Island was settled by the Scotch and still clings to many Scotch traditions. New Brunswick was settled by Loyalists from this country at the time of the Revolution. Labrador is populated by Eskimos and British fishermen; Ontario has the largest population and Saskatchewan and Alberta are known as the melting pot of Canada with many nationalities represented. The census of 1941 showed a population of 11,500,000 and every third Canadian speaks French and his native tongue. The descendants of the British hold most of the key positions in government and business houses and there is a strong Scottish influence even in Quebec. Up to the time of the American Civil War there was an immigration of people from the United States and afterward Canadians migrated to the United States. However, since 1939 there has not been so much freedom of the border.
The next meeting of Twentieth Century will not be until November 12. Mrs. Maurice Safford, 191 Tremper avenue, will be the hostess at that time.

FASHION TAKES A SOMER-SAULT

Perhaps my reader who asked what I think of certain present-day fashions will regret her question. However, since I am asked, this is my frank opinion:
I'm not quite sure whether manners follow fashion or whether fashion is the result of behavior. At all events, it seems to me that "play clothes" and little girl half-dresses worn by grown women suggests the next step further downward will be that of grandma and grandpa in rompers, with behavior to match.
The really curious phase of present-day fashion is that it represents the migration from the right side of the car tracks to the wrong. For years the most underprivileged of immigrants arriving at American ports came with kerchiefs tied over their heads or bareheaded. When a husband made enough money in this new country of promise, almost the first thing he did was to buy his wife a hat to raise her station. On the street in every city today, most of the women who are not bareheaded are wearing kerchiefs!
Not all of these are hobby-saxers—many are their mothers and not a few their grandmothers! The toleless shoes are also suggestive of the plight of the poor. Up to the present, gloves have been made with whole fingers, but ragged tips no doubt will appear soon, unless the end of the war shortage will enable fashion to create new beauty.

Edelmuth Speaks In Sixth Ward on His Administration

Says His Pledges Curtailed by War but Kept What He Could; Insists Audit Is Boost

Mayor William Edelmuth last night delivered the following address in the Sixth ward:

Friends:
I am happy to give you a true accounting of the administration of municipal affairs during the past two years. At the outset let me tell you that I wish it were possible for me to give you all sorts of promises that could be kept. But I cannot use these things as bait for votes.

In the last two campaigns I made some very definite pledges to the people of Kingston. As you know, war restrictions prevented the carrying out of some of our program, but so far as it lay within my power all of these pledges were kept and I can assure you that any pledges I may make in this campaign will be kept. That is the reason I am not going to make any rash promises. I can pledge you only those things that are feasible. To do otherwise would be ridiculous.

The opposition candidate says he intends to conduct a clean campaign. I hope, in the interest of clarity, that those who speak for him hold the same view, for unless you have all the facts before you, you cannot arrive at an honest, intelligent decision.

I pledge you that on my part this campaign will be a clean one. I will go further than that and pledge you that so far as I am concerned this shall be a truthful campaign. Half truths, distortion of the facts and deliberate deceit, which already have been voiced in radio talks of the opposition supporters, do not agree with their pledge to conduct a clean campaign.

The City of Kingston, with every other section of the country, played an important part in the victory we have just won, and today we thank God that so many of our boys are returning home. With every section of the country, this municipality has gone without things during the war years. No matter what our plans had been or how we felt about it, we were deprived by war necessities of the material and labor necessary for the improvements we desired. I think Mr. Candidate will agree with me that Kingston, with other cities large and small throughout the country, survived very well.

Peace reigns again; and during the next few years we must arrange our civic program in a way that will take the greatest advantage of the building days ahead. In this respect, the present administration proposed a list of Post War Projects. These projects were submitted by me to the Common Council with a recommendation that they be approved and forwarded to the Post War Planning Commission in Albany. After a delay of months, the reasons for which never were and never can be explained, the ruling powers in the Common Council finally approved these plans just as the deadline for their submission was reached.

This administration has proposed 65 public works projects. Ten already have been approved by the Post War Planning Commission, including paving of East Strand and Dock street, a storm water sewer to relieve flood conditions along the Tannery Brook and Main street brook, a pumping station and force main and a sanitary sewer system in the Ponckhockie section of the city, a municipal swimming pool, a comfort station plan suitable for use in any of the city parks, a underground comfort station for Academy Park and a roof on the municipal stadium. I pledge you that during the coming two years I shall work unceasingly to further the work on these projects.

Opposition campaigns follow a similar pattern in each election. Although they must know by now that the people of Kingston cannot be fooled by half truths and distortion of the facts they are repeating the same old plan in 1945. As an example, a supporter of the opposition candidate has given you a garbled repetition of a brief address I gave over the radio last Thursday night.

Says Audit Is Endorsed
For his benefit I repeat tonight that to me the finest endorsement of the present administration comes in the report of the State Department of Audit and Control, which is controlled by the opposition party. And for his benefit I repeat that examiners were here in the City of Kingston for seven weeks; they went over every department and every account of every department and at the conclusion of the examination they found that every penny of the taxpayer's money had been accounted for.

The opposition is trying to make something out of certain criticisms contained in this report of the state auditors. The opposition neglects to tell you that the criticism is aimed at office procedure that has been continued over a period of many years.

The opposition would have you believe that taxes in the amount of $27,771.02 were levied for the year 1944 in excess of the limitation prescribed by the state constitution. If the State Department of Audit and Control says this is so, why did the constitution controlled Common Council adopt the budget and fix the tax levy for 1944? If it is so, why did not the opposition take steps to have the budget declared unconstitutional? The whole question here concerns the exclusion from the two per cent limitation of sums due the State Retirement System on salaries of city officials prior to the date on which these officials joined the State Retirement System. I contend that this practice is perfectly legal and that inasmuch as this payment is an unusual expenditure we may exclude it from the debt limitation.

In this contention I have been upheld by the Corporation Counsel and by Hawkins, Deane and Longfellow, our New York City attorneys. Do you think these bonding attorneys would have recommended our municipal bonds if the 1944 budget, on which the sale was based, were illegal? These attorneys examined the 1944 budget and at the termination of their examination they recommended our bonds to any prospective buyer.

If the 1944 budget were illegal do you believe that H. L. Allen and Company, Incorporated, on June 17, 1944, would have bought general city bonds in the sum of $125,000 at the interest rate of nine tenths of one per cent?

If the 1944 budget were illegal do you think that C. F. Childs and Company, Incorporated, on June 18, 1944, would have bought our bonds in the sum of $75,000 at the interest rate of one per cent?

The opposition candidate's spokesman neglected to inform you of other criticisms contained in the auditors' report. Permit me to quote some. On page 11 of the auditors' report criticism is made of the purchase of newspapers by city departments. Here I quote, "several claims were audited and allowed by the auditing committee of the Common Council containing charges of 'one file' Freemans." The amount of these charges paid during the year aggregated $38. Again, I quote, "payment of $11 was also made to The Freeman Publishing Company for a subscription to the Kingston Daily Freeman for the Department of Public Works."

The amounts involved in these items are inconsequential, but I do not want to remind you that these practices have been going on over a period of years. On page 17 of the auditors' report it is stated, "Claims have not been presented to the County of Ulster for fees in criminal cases as authorized by section 64 of the City Charter."

On page 6 of the auditors' report is this statement: "Examination discloses that as of December 31, 1944 the outstanding accounts receivable due the City Laboratory amount to $2,958.00, numbering approximately 750 accounts, a considerable number of which have been outstanding for several years, the oldest account being dated January 28th, 1935."

Upon the conclusion of the auditor's examination the principal examiner of the State Department and one of his assistants conferred with me, the department head and the auditor-at-large. It was agreed then that these criticisms were aimed at procedure which had existed over a term of years, not only in 1944.

I immediately took steps to correct the practices in question and sent a memorandum to each department head directing that the practices criticised be stopped at once in order that we might conform with state law.

I agree with the Poughkeepsie New Yorker, a Republican newspaper published in Dutchess county, which on October 3, 1945, referring to such a state report, declared "it would be a good thing if local government examiners were to audit the state's books in return for an examination by the state of local government books." The Poughkeepsie New Yorker says, "increasingly it is difficult to accept the theory that all virtue and knowledge rests with the State Government, its various representatives, departments and authorities."

Recalls June Article
Tonight you have heard an address by a candidate who served as a spokesman for the opposition party in the Common Council for the past year. You may properly value the worth of his arguments by referring to the Kingston Daily Freeman of June 25, 1945. In the course of a lengthy communication to The Freeman, this spokesman attempted to play down praise of the administration by one of our leading business men for the enormous reduction we have made in the bonded debt of the city in the past four years. Here is what the opposition spokesman had to say, and I quote, "Municipal bonds have to be paid when they fall due regardless of who is mayor. They must be paid regardless of the mayor's choice and without planning or effort on his part. This has always been so, is so now, and will always be so."

Now, in the words of an oft quoted campaigner, let's look at the record. Under the high sounding name of debt equalization my predecessor in office, back in 1933, refinanced issues of municipal bonds falling due in 1936, 1937 and 1938. You and I are paying these bonds today. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars of the city's bonded debt was refinanced over a period of years. Of this amount we paid $115,000 in 1944, we paid $80,000 this year and will pay the balance of $25,000 next year.

Does this opposition spokesman still believe that maturing bonds have to be paid when they fall due regardless of who is mayor?

The purpose of this debt refinancing, as reported in The Kingston Daily Freeman on July 3, 1935, was to reduce the tax rate by $4.89 per thousand dollar valuation. Need I remind you that this action took place only a few months before the general election at which my predecessor sought re-election?

Does the opposition spokesman still believe that these bonds must be paid regardless of the mayor's choice and without any planning or effort on his part?

Does he still believe that this has always been so, is so now, and will always be so?

Now let's produce some more records. The present opposition State Comptroller as reported in the New York State Taxpayer, published in Albany, on March 27, 1944, severely criticized the equalization or debt refinancing by municipalities. Some municipalities, the Comptroller said, instead of raising taxes to pay their debts as they became due had issued new bonds as refunding bonds and used the money derived from the sale thereof to pay their maturing debt. The refunding bonds, he pointed out, were made payable over a period of future years. By shifting the payments of its debts to the taxpayers of these later years, the Comptroller said, the municipality temporarily obtained an artificially low tax rate. Now, I quote the State Comptroller: "This fiscal practice can seldom be justified. It always results in increased taxes to pay interest charges over longer periods. Its advocates usually seek to have it done claiming that the municipality will be better able to pay its debt at a later date. Analysis of refunding experience in this state during the past 20 years does not support these claims."

This administration has nothing to hide from the people of Kingston. We present our record proudly for it is a record of actual achievement. We gave good, honest government during the past four years and I feel that you want the continuance of good, honest government for the coming two years.

I repeat that the opposition candidate has not raised a single issue in this campaign. I ask you in all sincerity not to be influenced by false issues, by half truths and distortion of the facts. Base your decision on the record.

Hankow Residents Suffer From Varied Ills Due to War

Hankow but virtually all now are concentrated outside the city. Hankow administrators are busy rounding up some 2,000 puppets and collaborators. Many already have been jailed and marked for execution.

Thousands of citizens are drifting back from the countryside where they sought refuge when the Japanese moved in. A third of the city's 800,000 people left in 1937. Their return aggravates the already-critical housing shortage. Inflation has boosted prices of basic commodities another 50 to 100 per cent each successive week for the past two months. Prices generally still are lower than those of Shanghai and Chungking, however. A hotel dinner costs about 75 cents in American money but for the poor people, rice, wheat, eggs, sugar and meat are almost as far out of reach as non-essentials like silk, cameras and jewelry—now priced fantastically high because of American demand.

A trade magazine survey shows that more than 100 department stores in the United States are considering some use of television.

represented by counsel and had not been informed of his constitutional rights, since he had been deprived of the right to counsel.

In one of the most complete sets of papers which Judge Cashin said had ever come before him, Gillette set forth his facts and included a memorandum of law which Judge Cashin said was a "masterpiece." At the time the papers were drawn by Gillette he was still confined to prison.

Coming back Monday for re-arraignment, Gillette was represented by Louis G. Bruhn who had been assigned.

On arraignment Gillette entered a plea of guilty to the second larceny count in the indictment and the first count was dismissed by the court. District Attorney Haver told the court that he felt the defendant had paid his debt to society and suggested a suspended sentence. Gillette has been in trouble in Ohio where he served time on a larceny charge. He was picked up on his discharge from the Ohio prison and brought here to answer the charge of parole violation.

Judge Cashin imposed a 2½ to five year term at hard labor in Clinton State Prison and suspended execution and placed Gillette on probation during good behavior, warning him if he got in difficulty he would have to serve the sentence now imposed. The time he has served already will not count on the sentence imposed Monday.

The case of Henry Bunce charged with abandonment, went over and bail was fixed at $500. Harry Gold appeared for Bunce who had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

The case of Frank Ferraro, 17, was moved to chambers where it will be disposed of under the Youthful Offender Law. Ferraro, along with George Petrie are charged with taking a truck of the Styles trucking firm. Court was then recessed until December 4 at 2 o'clock and jurors excused until that time. Judge Cashin adjourned the Ferraro case to chambers at 10 o'clock today.

Newkirk Assails Mayor's Labor Record as Repudiation Of Needs, Aims of Workers

tailed by him because he is a friend of labor.

"Tonight, I want to give you the labor record of the Democratic candidate so that you can decide for yourself whether or not he is a friend of labor."

"I have been a member of the various salary committees of the Common Council. I am thoroughly familiar with the labor record of the Democratic candidate."

First, let me tell you what he said about labor before he was elected.

On October 14, 1941, in a campaign speech, the Democratic candidate said:

"Building of parks and streets is not enough if the city's manpower is not employed. We may pave streets with gold, yet if the earning capacity of the laboring classes is not enough to maintain a continuously decent standard of wages, we are not progressing."

"Yes, Before, 'No' After Election

That is what the Democratic candidate for mayor said in 1941, before he was elected.

Contrast this with what he did after he was elected.

His first official act upon assuming office was to cut out of the budget submitted by the preceding Republican administration a cost-of-living bonus of $100 for city employees.

As you know, the Pearl Harbor attack came on December 7, 1941. The last Republican administration, forcing a war-time boom and an increase in living costs, included a hundred dollar bonus in its tentative budget to help city employees meet that increase.

But the Democratic candidate struck the bonus from the budget and gave the following excuse in his first annual message of January 1, 1942:

"I am convinced that at this time, when our citizens face all sorts of taxes to carry on the war, there should be no unnecessary expansion of the cost of our local government."

In the Democratic candidate's own printed words, the fair wage adjustment proposed by the preceding Republican administration was called "an unnecessary expansion of the cost of local government."

In other words, before election he was for the laboring man. But after election he was not.

As Low as $18 Per Week

So, while the cost of living steadily advanced, and wages were being raised throughout the entire country, our city employees, because of the action of the Democratic candidate, continued to work throughout 1942 for pre-war wages as low as 40 cents an hour, or about $18 a week.

Then came 1943. Living costs continued to rise. The State of New York, the County of Ulster, the Kingston Board of Education, and many other cities granted war-time wage adjustments. But what happened in Kingston? The Democratic candidate gave a raise of $120 per year to members of the fire and police departments but left in the lurch all other city employees, including those getting only $18 per week.

On May 24, 1943, the city employees presented a petition to the mayor and the Common Council, requesting the same treatment accorded to firemen and policemen.

The Democratic candidate ignored their petition. The Common Council, however, immediately appointed a salary committee to study the matter. They sought the cooperation of the Democratic candidate in developing a plan to grant increased compensation to ALL city employees to help them meet the rising cost of living.

Did Not Cooperate

But the Democratic candidate did not cooperate.

Finally, despairing of any action by the administration, the salary committee of the Council, in July, 1943, presented its own bonus bill, which provided emergency compensation up to 15 per cent from surplus revenues in the city treasury.

The Democratic candidate vetoed this bill. The Democratic party at that time had a majority in the Common Council. However, one Democratic alderman joined with six Republicans and the bill was passed. The Democratic candidate vetoed the bill. This was the first veto in the longest series of vetoes of labor bills by any mayor in the recent history of the State of New York.

However, the Republican minority in the Council continued its fight for labor and attempted to pass this bonus bill over the mayor's veto, but the Democratic majority voted to sustain the mayor's veto and the 1943 bonus bill was killed.

Brought Into Open by Republicans

(The Democratic candidate, his hand thus forced by the Republican minority, then made a counter-proposal. He recommended a bonus bill which granted different amounts of extra compensation to different employees. Some employees received only $25 under his plan.

That bill was passed by a strict party vote. All Republicans voted against it because it did not apply fairly and equitably to all city employees. Unfair as the bill was, it can be stated that the few dollars certain employees did receive were due to the efforts of the then Republican minority to bring the wage question out in the open and to help city employees meet the rising cost of living.

Bear this in mind, however. Seven months of 1943 had passed without most city employees receiving a cent of extra compensation. And, after waiting seven months, some employees received only $25.

Now, we come to the year 1944.

Living costs, as you know, were still rising. Nation-wide wage adjustments were being made. City employees waited eagerly for the mayor's budget to be presented. But again the Democratic candidate neglected to provide any extra compensation for city employees.

Petition Is Presented

In March, 1944, the civil service employees of the city petitioned the Democratic candidate, protesting unfair treatment and asking him to make good his promise that he would do something for them in 1944. The Democratic candidate again ignored their petition.

In the face of the Democratic candidate's failure to act, the Council early in 1944 appointed a salary committee, which again sought the administration's cooperation in developing a plan to help city employees, but again they sought in vain. The Council was powerless to act until almost the year's end, until surplus revenues were available in the city treasury for re-appropriation. In December, 1944, when surpluses were available, the Council passed a law, granting city employees a cost-of-living bonus of $75, payable on December 20, 1944.

Another Bill Is Vetoed

Again, the Democratic candidate vetoed another labor bill, thus ending all hope of helping city employees to meet the high cost of living. Thus passed another year of the Democratic candidate's administration with many city employees still being paid only $18 a week.

In vetoing this bill, the Democratic candidate said:

"On April 4, 1944, I requested your honorable body to recess for one week so that I might submit a bonus plan to cover all city employees. Your honorable body adjourned without recessing for one week as I requested. From that meeting on April 4th, until your honorable body met on December 5th, nothing was done about the matter. No communication was ever addressed to me regarding it."

Eight Long Months, No Action

Ladies and gentlemen, the Democratic candidate on April 4th said he wanted to submit a bonus bill to the Council. The Council met thereafter in May, in June, in July, in August, in September, in October, in November and in December. The Council waited eight long months but no bonus bill ever came from the Democratic candidate, as he had promised.

So passed the third year of the Democratic candidate's administration with no wage adjustments given to city employees to help them meet the war-time costs of living.

It was also in 1944 that the Democratic candidate's interest in the welfare of labor received another acid test. The council had discovered that the Democratic candidate was withholding annual wage increments from certain employees who were employed by the city before he assumed office. In other words, because they had been appointed by the preceding Republican administration, their increments were withheld. To prevent such discrimination, the Council was compelled to resort to legislation and passed Local Law No. 2 of 1944, making mandatory the granting of annual increments provided for by the compensation schedule. Again, the Democratic candidate vetoed this fair labor bill which insured equal treatment for all employees.

Democrats Join Republicans

However, this time, some Democrats joined with all the Republicans to over-ride the veto and the bill became a law without the Democratic candidate's approval.

Now we come to 1945. At long last, stung by many criticisms directed at him by labor, the Democratic candidate finally included in his 1945 budget a long-overdue bonus of $100 for city employees, payable only during the year of 1945.

The Republican majority, realizing that it was hopeless to expect the Democratic candidate to propose much-needed adjustments in the basic wage rates of city employees, took the matter in its own hands and on May 1, 1945, introduced a resolution, calling for the appointment of a committee to make a thorough investigation and submit recommendations. Alderman-at-Large Schuyler, appointed two Democrats and two Republicans to that committee. This bipartisan committee, found, upon investigation, that the basic wage rates being paid by the City of Kingston to its employees were far below those paid by other cities. The committee for that reason recommended, and on October 9, 1945, the Council unanimously passed, Local Law No. 3 of 1945 which grants, commencing next year, annual base salary increases of $240 to all civil service employees.

Protects Rights of Veterans

The bill also protects the rights of veterans by providing that city employees who left city service to enter the armed forces must be granted the annual increments to which they would have been entitled if they had not left their city jobs to go to war.

It is interesting to note that, when the Democratic candidate heard about the Council's wage increase plan, he hurriedly passed among city employees and told them he was to raise their wages.

Shortly before the Council met to unanimously pass its own wage bill, he suggested to various city boards that wage increases be given to a plan he had developed.

Envoied Select Few

The Democratic candidate's plan has never been published. It was secretly arrived at and favored only a select few. Only by questioning various department heads was it possible to determine who benefited by the Democratic candidate's secret plan, and who did NOT benefit.

On September 19, 1945, the City Employees Local 316 issued and distributed a letter in which it endorsed Local Law No. 3, the Council's plan which already unanimously passed the Common Council. This letter contained a chart, which showed that under the Democratic candidate's plan employees in the labor and motor equipment classes with less than one year's service received an increase of $20 per month; those with one year's service received an increase of $15 per month; those with two years' service received an increase of $10 per month; those with three years' service received $5 per month; and those with four or more years of service received no increase whatsoever. In other words, those with the longest service received nothing; those recently appointed received the most. The Democratic candidate thus grossly discriminated against those with the most seniority rights.

Contrast this secretly made and discriminatory wage plan of the Democratic candidate with the wage law published and passed by the Common Council which treats all employees alike, regardless of their political beliefs or affiliations.

Eight Days Before Election

Local Law No. 3, the Council's wage bill, is now before the Democratic candidate for approval or disapproval.

The Democratic candidate has called a public hearing on the bill for October 23rd, which is 20 days after the bill was passed by the Council and only eight days before election.

Does this long delay mean that the Democratic candidate intends to veto this wage bill AFTER election or does it mean that he intends to approve the bill on the eve of election?

The Common Council, our city employees, members of labor unions, and all citizens interested in fair play are awaiting the Democratic candidate's action on this wage bill, which would give much needed increases to our under-paid employees.

The competitive civil service system was installed in this city by the last Republican administration to protect the dignity and rights of the laboring man and woman. The Common Council has proved by its acts that it believes in that ideal.

During the past four years, the Republican administration, often assisted by Democratic aldermen belonging to labor unions, have fought for fair wages and equal treatment to city employees. The Democratic candidate, by his many vetoes of labor legislation, largely frustrated the efforts of the Council in labor's behalf.

Comparison Is Asked

Compare the labor record of the Democratic candidate with the labor record of the Common Council.

Only one conclusion can be reached. The labor record of the Democratic candidate is a bad labor record.

Every laboring man and woman in this city should ask themselves this question: Why should I vote for the Democratic candidate in the face of such a labor record?

Follow citizens, Kingston must not slip backward; Kingston must move ahead. Elect Abe Molyneux, mayor and Kingston WILL move ahead.

PIN-WORM ITCH MAY THREATEN YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

Don't let your child suffer a painful headless mass of discomfiting Pin-Worms!

Recent medical reports reveal that an increasing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong. So watch out for the warning signs—especially the irritating, embarrassing rectal itch. Because now you can and should do something about it!

A highly effective way to deal with this icky infection has now been made possible. It is based on the medically recognized drug known as mebendazole. This special drug is the vital ingredient in P.W., the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratory of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

P.W. tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. So, if you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, get a box of JAYNE'S P.W. right away, and follow the directions.

Sen. Arthur Wicks Speaks at Regional Publicity Session

Greene county appropriated $1,400. Ulster county published and distributed 35,000 folders, Greene county 25,000. In addition 97,000 town directories were printed in Ulster county and 31,000 in Greene county. There were 4,545 inquiries about Ulster county and 3,297 about Greene county. For the two counties an estimated 20,500 additional vacationists were brought in the area and the estimated increased resort revenue was $510,000. For each $1 spent in advertising about $125 was returned in added revenue.

Inquiries in 1945 were received from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, Washington and some from the West Indies, Europe and from men in the service in the South Pacific. During the past year folders and information were given out by 52 metropolitan agencies, including travel agencies, bus companies and railroads.

Mr. Wicks also referred to the splendid co-operation and the great amount of space which had been devoted to the Ulster-Greene Vacationland area in the New York State Publicity Bureau folders and spoke of the benefits which had been derived from it. Speaking for Director Keller, Mr. Horan said that the local organization was one of the finest in the state and was frequently held up to other communities as a model. He pointed out that while New York state had enjoyed a good travel business during the war period, much would have to be done if the state was to receive its share of post-war travel now that cars, gas and tires were once again available to the traveling public.

Great Days Ahead
Mr. Horan saw great days ahead in the vacation and travel field, with next year celebrated as Victory Vacation Year and America "going to take the road as never before." In the competition for this business New York state would "face the greatest challenge in its history," he said.

For years before the war the Empire State enjoyed better than 30 per cent of the travel and resort business of America, its share amounting to around $600,000,000 a year, it was stated. During the war, as a result of restrictions on travel, resort areas in the state boomed, because of their proximity to New York city, greatest market in the world. Reference was made to the "tremendous influx of visitors" to the Ulster and Greene counties area, with vacation resorts of the two counties filled to capacity during the past three summers. Saying that "this program is very close to the heart of Governor Thomas E. Dewey," the speaker continued, "You have a good product to sell—the beauties of the Catskill Mountain area are known the world over—but good products don't always sell themselves. The main reason, I think, that you have had the intelligence to set up a good sales organization to do the job." He said that "our office in Albany regards the Publicity Committee of Greene and Ulster counties as outstanding among the regional organizations in the state for promoting the resort business. is perhaps the strongest of any in New York state.

Speaking of what had been accomplished, Mr. Horan said:

"I know that everyone here tonight realizes this is due largely to the foresight and intelligent planning of our good friend, Ed Huben, of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company. We in Albany know what a swell job Ed Huben has done. We think that he is one of the best in the business. He's the kind of plugger who doesn't wait until our literature is published and then take pot shots at us for omitting something of value about the Catskills. No sir. He's right in there at the start, seeing that the interests of the region he represents are taken care of before our literature is printed. He's the kind of man who's always ready with the answer when we need it, and we have come to rely upon him continually during the past three years as the outstanding booster of the Catskills.

"He's in our office frequently with information and pictures—to see that Greene and Ulster counties get their just deserts in our promotion efforts. He knows his job and he makes our job that much easier because he knows what he's talking about.

"We think so well of your committee—and your representative—that we have used our organizational plan as a model for other groups that have from time to time asked our advice on how to set up county or regional organizations to promote their own resorts.

"It's a truism in our office that if every section of the state was as well organized as Ulster and Greene counties we wouldn't have anything to worry about. It would be a simple matter to conduct a well-integrated state promotion campaign because every section would be able to cooperate on an intelligent basis.

Serious Challenge

Taking up the statement that "New York resorts face a serious challenge," Mr. Horan said that during the war Mr. August C. Horan gave up two of his most cherished possessions—his automobile and his desire to travel. "Now," he said, "he wants them back and he wants them quick." He was stated that signs indicate that many vacationists may pass up New York state "unless we do something about it."

Surveys Are Quoted

Surveys were quoted by the Chicago Motor Club among civilian motorists and the Outdoorsman Magazine among service men. The Chicago Motor Club survey showed that 25 per cent of its members planned their first post-war vacation in the Western States; 20 per cent to the National Parks; 18 per cent to the Deep South; 14 per cent to New England and the Maritime Provinces of Canada; 11 per cent would like to drive to Alaska over the new Alcan Highway.

The Outdoorsman questioned 5,000 service men. The survey showed that 53.9 per cent preferred the West; 21.9 per cent the North (meaning the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan); 14.6 per cent indicated the South. Analyzing the replies, 11 per cent of the Californians and 11 per cent of the Texans said that they would vacation in New York. Our state did not get a favorable rating from service men whose homes were in any other state.

As to "what we are going to do about it," Mr. Horan's address emphasized increases in the staff of the Division of Publicity of the state, the $800,000,000 highway program, new and attractive literature, a nationwide advertising campaign; posters in all the travel agencies of the country.

Further a Small Business Expansion campaign, related to the resort business, will be launched. The formation of local advisory committees of civic-minded business men to carry out the campaign on a community basis was recommended.

One of the most important elements in the future promotion campaign will be the organization of a state-wide organization representing all types of business which benefit from travel. It will be called the New York State Travel Council. Similar groups in California, Florida and Maine have met with great success.

Mr. Horan urged the people of Ulster and Greene counties not to relax their efforts, after having made such a wonderful start. "Don't think for a moment," he said, "that because your hotels and boarding houses turned away guests this year that you can afford to stop advertising."

"We'll have to advertise wider; we'll have to modernize our facilities to meet any competition," the speaker said in conclusion.

The perception is slow and stupid, and these characteristics have been the salvation of more than one lost hunter and woodsman. Of all the forest animals the "porky" is the only one which an unarmed man, sick from hunger and exposure, can kill with a stick or a stone.

President Favors Year's Training

should provide ample opportunity for self improvement," he continued. "Some part of the training could be used to develop skills which would be useful in future civilian life just as such skills have been developed during the present war."

Three Basic Elements

The President recommended creation of a postwar military organization containing the following basic elements:

"First—A comparatively small Regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps;

"Second—A greatly strengthened National Guard, and organized reserve for the Army, Navy and Marine Corps;

"Third—A general reserve composed of all the male citizens of the United States who have received training."

The general reserve, "would be available for rapid mobilization in time of emergency, but it would have no obligation to serve, either in this country or abroad, unless and until called to the service by an act of the Congress," the President asserted.

"In order to provide this general reserve, I recommend to the Congress the adoption of a plan for universal military training."

The President recommended that the training should be for one year and that each young man should enter training "either at the age of 18 or upon his graduation from high school—whichever is later; but in any event before his 20th birthday."

A 17-year-old high school graduate also would be eligible to enter training with his parents' consent.

Under the President's recommendation, the training, upon completion of the full year's training, would become a member of the general reserve for a period of six years. After that, he would be placed in a "secondary reserve status."

"I urge that the Congress pass this legislation promptly—while the danger is still fresh in our minds—while we still remember how close we came to destruction four years ago—while we can vividly recall the horrors of invasion which our Allies suffered—and while we can still see all the ravages and ruin of war," the President declared.

The President said that even the atomic bomb would have been useless "unless we had developed a strong Army, Navy and Air Force with which to beat off the attacks of our foe, and then fight our way to points within striking distance of the heart of the enemy."

Haynes, Rosenthal Are Given Prizes

Announcement has been made that Joan Haynes of 403 Broadway, a student at the Kingston High School and David Rosenthal of 23 Hone street, a student at the Myron J. Michael School, have each been awarded prizes in the National Contest which was sponsored by the All American Comics Inc.

The contest in the Kingston schools was under the auspices of the Kingston Lodge of B'nai B'rith. The subject of the contest was the Broadway Hit and motion picture "Tomorrow the World," the story of which was contained in a comic distributed among the High School and Myron J. Michael School students. Each contestant was required to write an essay on the subject of "What Would You Do With Emil Bruckner," the Nazi trained villain of the story.

The B'nai B'rith Lodge awarded six prizes to the winners of the Local Contest in the two schools. These awards were presented at the commencement exercises in the city of Kingston. The National awards were not announced until after the fall opening of the schools.

Truman's Recommendations

(By The Associated Press)

President Truman's recommendations at a glance:

A year's specialized military training for young men in the 17-20 age bracket.

No exemptions from training except total physical disability.

Maintenance of a small professional army, navy and marine corps, supplemented by a large organized citizen reserve and strengthened National Guard.

Immediate passage of the training legislation to use existing camps and organization.

A policy of remaining strong "in the only kind of strength an aggressor can understand—military power" now that "our geographical security is gone."

Won't Shun Soldiers

Tokyo, Oct. 23 (AP)—There will be no shunning of former Japanese prisoners of war when they return home—and consequently no suicides because of it—questioning of many Japanese indicates. Under the old Japanese military code soldiers who were captured or surrendered were disgraced forever and the fear of that led many during the war to their deaths in face of hopeless odds. The present attitude in Japan seems to be that the former prisoners fought as hard as they could and when they finally had to surrender, or were captured, they were not dishonored and should be treated with sympathy rather than scorn.

LaGuardia Buys House

New York, Oct. 23 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia who will leave office December 31, yesterday announced the purchase of a $50,000, 17-room house in the Riverdale section of the Bronx. The mayor, who expects to take possession about December 1, bought the house from a friend, Rudolph Stephens, Bronx chairman of the St. Paul party and president of the Stephens Fuel Company. Three Attend Regional Economic Conference

Albert Kurdt, county agricultural agent, William H. Palmer, assistant agent and Miss Everette Parsons, Home demonstration agent, are in New York city today and Wednesday attending a regional economic conference. The meeting is being held at the office of the Dairymen's League, 11 West 42nd street, New York.

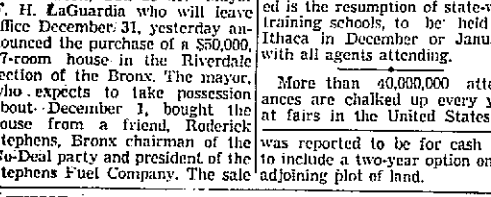

The quick shift from routine of war-time programs to post-war programs, which must be established on the basis of an entirely different situation, has made it necessary to hold these conferences in various regions throughout the state to plan future activities.

Among activities to be considered is the resumption of state-wide training schools, to be held in Ithaca in December or January, with all agents attending.

More than 40,000,000 attendances are chalked up every year at fairs in the United States.

Bowles Urges Continued Price Controls in Nation

Washington, Oct. 23 (AP)—O.P.A. Administrator Chester Bowles told congress today there was plenty of "hot money" floating around in the country, and argued that the situation called for continued price controls, expanded to include housing.

Reporting to the Senate Banking Committee on O.P.A.'s anti-inflation work, Bowles talked of "pressures" against it.

He said: "If people attempted to spend even a small portion of their savings (estimated at $145,000,000,000), in addition to their pay checks, before production and supply have greatly expanded, it would greatly increase the pressures on prices."

"Ready cash (in checking accounts) alone equals more than the entire amount spent by consumers in 1939."

"This $72,000,000,000 will be bidding the first new supplies of things that have been scarce during the war."

"Today talk of inflation fills the air. The stock market has been booming merrily upward." As in 1929 tax drivers and barbers are passing out tips on their favorite speculations. "There's more hot money around than most of us ever dreamed there would be."

Bowles strongly urged ceilings on houses.

Real estate men contend that such ceilings would strangle a badly-needed housing construction boom.

"We have been particularly alarmed at the dangerous situation which has developed in the field of housing and building materials," Bowles testified.

"At least 3,000,000 American families are expecting to build new homes during the next two or three years."

"The supply of lumber, mill work, soil pipe, brick, building hardware and other items, however, remains extremely tight."

"I am fearful that unless some prompt and vigorous action is taken, we will soon be facing a wild scramble for scarce building materials accompanied by rapidly increasing prices for both new homes and old. The average increase in real estate prices throughout the country is already more than 50 per cent. In many areas the increase has been more than 100 per cent."

"If speculators are permitted to gobble up the small supplies which are available, individual families who want to build a home, or model or enlarge their present one, will find there are no materials left for them."

Bowles said he wanted to make it "emphatically clear that the need for price control and rent control will not be ended by next June."

Results Are Studied

Paris, Oct. 23 (AP)—General Gaulle's cabinet met today to study election results still trickling in from colonies, and presumably discussed selection of a new cabinet. He will present to the constituent assembly. The only official announcement after the election was a "serious example of mature politics."
